PLASTIC STRAPPING

POLYESTER

One of the strongest plastic strapping products, polyester is used as a less expensive alternative to steel. It provides excellent retained tension on loads and helps the load absorb impact without breaking the strapping.

Popular Sizes: 5/8" x .035", 3/4" x .040", and many other sizes.

Recommended Seals: Serrated Seals

Recommended Tools: Manual tools with seals or battery operated, friction weld closure system.

POLYPROPYLENE

An economical strapping for light to medium strength needs. Most polypropylene strapping is embossed which aids in metal seals holding the strap secure, but embossing can weaken the strapping.

Popular sizes: 3/8", 1/2", 5/8", and many other sizes.

Recommended Seals: Serrated Seals or PPL Seals

Recommended Tools: Manual tools with seals or battery operated, friction weld closure system.

CE-LITE™

Cost Effective—Light Duty Steel Strapping

“CE-LITE STRAP™” is a lower carbon, light duty, painted and waxed steel strap recommended for:

- Lighter, smaller lumber packs
- Compact, stable pallet loads
- Lumber yard order pulling
- Stabilizing odd size carton palletizing
- Wood crate manufacturing
- Metal roofing and siding shipping
- And many other uses needing the durability of steel, but not the higher cost of a heavy duty strap
